

Use Google Scholar to search for Professional Journals

To access: Scholar.google.com

The image shows a screenshot of the Google Scholar website with search results for "genetic modified food golden rice". Several callout boxes provide instructions on how to use the interface:

- Use these 2 areas to save articles to your library for future reading. (Points to "My library" and "Save" buttons)
- Use these areas to limit articles returned by publication date. (Points to the "Any time" filter menu)
- Use this feature to find more articles like this one if it fits your search needs perfectly. (Points to the "High-frequency" filter)
- Remember you can use citations for articles found here to look up full text of articles in the EBSCO databases. (Points to the "Citations" link)
- Only articles noted here with a PDF or HTML will be readable by you (Points to "[PDF] from umn.edu" and "[PDF] from american.edu" links)

The search results include articles such as "Genetically Modified Food: A Golden Opportunity?", "Genetically modified crops and development", and "Metabolic engineering approaches for production of biochemicals in food and medicine".